

How did your parents pick your name?

Well this is an easy one. My father decided to name me after the General of the 104th Infantry Division, the Timber Wolf Division. General Terry Allen, “One of the finest American combat leaders of World War II, flamboyant Gen. Terry Allen was relieved of the command of a veteran division in the midst of a campaign, producing a controversy that lingers to this day; he had come, some suggested, to love his men too much.” - Thomas Dixon

Dad served in that Timber Wolf Division from when he went to France in WWII and until the end of the war. He said all the men in the division really liked General Terry Allen.....

Thus my name Terry Allen McPherson
